The Gut Foundations Launch

9 posts over 3 weeks to sell Gut Foundations ($27) from the Link in Bio

7 Reels · 2 carousels · Mon / Wed / Fri

Go Happy Belly

ALINA NAZARI, FDN-P

> Alina: everything you need to film is in the Reel pages. Read the line, look up, say it to the lens. Paraphrase freely, except the aha line, which stays word for word.
>
> Steve: the setup, carousels, captions, Stories and the follow-up after each post are yours.

OVERVIEW

At a Glance

Week 1 gives value and asks for nothing. Week 2 introduces Gut Foundations. Week 3 asks directly. Every call to action points to the first link in the bio.

Filming basics (all Reels)

- [ ] Phone vertical (9:16), at eye level on a tripod, about an arm and a half away. Frame from mid-chest up.
- [ ] Face a window for natural light. No overhead light on, no window behind her.
- [ ] Clip-on mic if you have one. If not, film in a small room with soft furnishings (less echo).

- [ ] Same outfit for every Reel in the session is fine. Solid color, no busy patterns. Sage, cream, navy or terracotta tones match the brand.
- [ ] Read each line, then look up and say it to the lens. Paraphrasing is fine as long as the bold aha line stays word for word.
- [ ] Do 2 or 3 takes of every hook. The hook matters more than anything else in the video.
- [ ] Leave one second of silence before and after each take so it's easy to cut.

> ONE SESSION
> Film Posts 1, 3, 4, 5, 7 and 8 together. Film Post 9 at the end of week 2, once the real questions are in.

Compliance check (every post)

- Pattern language only: "this pattern", "this often shows up when". Never "you have SIBO / candida / leaky gut".
- Never say heal, cure or treat. Say address, work with, understand.
- No outcome promises about the course ("you'll be bloat-free"). Promise clarity: "you'll know what you're working with".
- No em dashes in captions or on-screen text.
- Don't assume she's had labs or seen doctors. This audience mostly hasn't.

POST 1 · WEEK 1, MONDAY

The Drawer

GIVE Reel · 45 to 50 seconds

Who it's for	Burned-Out Professional (28-40), Health-Conscious Optimizer (30-50)
Pattern	None specific. This is the shared pain: trying things that never add up.
Job of this post	Stop the scroll, make her feel seen, get comments. No selling.
CTA	None. Ask a question for the comments.

Setup

- Location: kitchen or bathroom, next to a drawer or cabinet.
- Prop: a drawer or shelf with 8 to 15 supplement bottles, some half-used. Real bottles from the house are best. Turn labels away from camera (no brand names on screen).
- Shot 1 is a close-up of the drawer opening (film it separately). Everything else is Alina to camera, standing beside it.
- Energy: calm, a little knowing, like she's letting the viewer in on something.

Script

0:00-0:03 Hook

If you have a drawer that looks like this, I need you to hear something.

DO YOU HAVE A DRAWER LIKE THIS?

VISUAL Close-up: drawer slides open, bottles visible. Cut to Alina on "I need you to hear something".

0:03-0:18 The pain

Half-finished probiotics. The magnesium a friend swore by. The digestive enzyme that helped for about two weeks. And every time one stops working, you go buy the next one.

IT HELPED FOR TWO WEEKS. THEN IT STOPPED.

VISUAL Alina picks up 2 or 3 bottles one at a time as she names them, then sets them down.

0:18-0:38 The reframe

You haven't failed at any of this. You've been guessing, because nobody ever explained what you're actually working with. When you change three things in the same week and you feel a bit better, you have no idea which one mattered. So nothing ever adds up.

YOU'RE NOT FAILING. YOU'RE GUESSING.

VISUAL Straight to camera. Slight lean in on "You haven't failed".

0:38-0:46 Close (no sell)

So tell me in the comments: how many bottles are in yours? Be honest.

HOW MANY ARE IN YOURS?

VISUAL Small smile. Hold eye contact for a beat after the line, then cut.

> AHA LINE, WORD FOR WORD
>
> You're not failing. You're guessing.

> ALTERNATE HOOK TO TEST
>
> "This drawer is the most expensive guessing game in your house."

B-roll

- [ ] Drawer opening (2 to 3 takes, slow and normal speed).
- [ ] Hand picking up a bottle, turning it, putting it back.
- [ ] Optional: bottles lined up on the counter, Alina sliding them aside.

Stories

- Share the Reel to Stories with a poll sticker: "Do you have a drawer like this?" Yes / Two drawers 😅

Steve, after it posts

- [ ] Reply to every comment within a few hours. Short and human: "Seven! That's a lot of hope in one drawer. You're not doing anything wrong."
- [ ] No links in replies this week.

> NOTES
>
> - Only add "mine used to look like this too" if it's true for Alina.

POST 2 · WEEK 1, WEDNESDAY

The 5 Gut Patterns I See Over and Over

GIVE Carousel · 7 slides, 1080 x 1350 (4:5)

Who it's for	All four $27 avatars
Pattern	All five. Mirrors Lesson 3 of Gut Foundations and the five rows on the sales page.
Job of this post	Saves and shares. Get women to self-identify by commenting a number.
CTA	None. "Comment your number."

Setup

- Steve designs this one. Cream background (#FAF6F0), navy headings (#1B2D4F), sage accent line (#7BA987), Georgia or Playfair for headings.
- Use the five cut-paper analogy illustrations from the Gut Foundations sales page: car with hood up, torn screen door, ransacked kitchen, unlit stove, flooded basement.
- Slide 1 uses a warm photo of Alina.
- Big quote text on each pattern slide. The quote is what she recognizes; the analogy is the small line underneath.

Slides

SLIDE 1 (COVER)

I've worked with hundreds of women.
The same 5 gut patterns keep showing up.

Which one are you? →

SLIDE 2

01 · THE WIRED-AND-TIRED GUT

"Same lunch on a calm day and a bad day, and only one of them hurts."

Like a car with the engine timing off. Everything fires, just in the wrong order.

SLIDE 3

02 · THE REACTIVE GUT

"My safe food list keeps getting shorter."

Like a torn screen door. It's meant to keep things out, but the holes let them through.

SLIDE 4

03 · THE SUGAR-DRIVEN GUT

"The 3pm craving doesn't feel like a choice I'm making."

Like squatters in the house, asking to be fed.

SLIDE 5

04 · THE UNDERACTIVE GUT

"Food sits like a stone for hours."

Like a stove that never gets hot enough. Food sits instead of cooking.

SLIDE 6

05 · THE BLOATED AND BACKED-UP GUT

"Flat in the morning, bloated by evening. Every day."

Like bacteria that moved into the wrong neighborhood.

SLIDE 7 (CLOSE)

Four of these aren't you.
One probably is.

Stories

- Share the carousel with a quiz sticker (the Instagram sticker, not the ScoreApp quiz): "Which pattern sounds most like you?" with options 1 to 4 (Instagram allows 4; leave out whichever pattern gets the least comments).

Steve, after it posts

- [ ] Keep a simple list: @handle and the number she commented. This is the warm list for Post 5.
- [ ] Reply to every comment: "A 4! That 'stone in the stomach' feeling is so common. You're not imagining it."
- [ ] Pin this post to the profile grid.

>
> - "Hundreds of women": use Alina's real number. If it's fewer, say "so many women".

POST 3 · WEEK 1, FRIDAY

Bloated by Evening

GIVE Reel · 55 to 65 seconds

Who it's for	Frustrated Dieter (35-55), Postpartum Rebuilder (28-42)
Pattern	Bloated and Backed-Up (location) vs a slow-moving gut (speed). Teased, not named as a diagnosis.
Job of this post	Teach one real thing, earn saves, and open a loop that Post 5 closes.
CTA	Save this. "Next week I'll show you where to start."

Setup

- Location: anywhere calm. Couch or kitchen counter.
- Optional prop: a glass of water or a mug, to make it feel like a chat.
- Two hand gestures matter: one finger for "location", two fingers for "speed".
- Energy: warm, explaining something to a friend.

Script

0:00-0:04 Hook

You wake up with a flat stomach, and by the evening you look six months pregnant. I hear this all the time, and I want to tell you what's actually going on.

FLAT IN THE MORNING. BLOATED BY EVENING.

VISUAL Slight nod on "I hear this all the time".

0:04-0:15 The pain

You've tried cutting foods. Some things help a little. But it keeps coming back. And it feels like anything you eat, even something small, sets it off.

IT KEEPS COMING BACK.

VISUAL To camera.

0:15-0:25 The setup

Here's what most people don't know. There are two completely different gut patterns that can cause this kind of all-day bloating, and they need completely different approaches.

TWO DIFFERENT PATTERNS.

VISUAL Lean in slightly.

0:25-0:37 Reason one: location

The first is a location problem. Bacteria end up in a part of the gut where they don't belong. Every time you eat, they ferment the food right there, and the gas builds up through the day.

1. A LOCATION PROBLEM

VISUAL Hold up one finger.

0:37-0:47 Reason two: speed

The second is a speed problem. Food isn't moving through fast enough, so it backs up and ferments as the day goes on.

2. A SPEED PROBLEM

VISUAL Hold up two fingers.

0:47-0:55 The aha

They look almost identical from the outside. But if you're working on the wrong one, it can make things worse, not better.

SAME SYMPTOM. OPPOSITE APPROACH.

VISUAL Slow down here. This is the line to land.

0:55-1:03 Close (open loop)

So save this one. And next week, I'm going to show you where to start.

WHERE TO START? NEXT WEEK 👀

VISUAL Warm smile, point down toward the save button, cut.

AHA LINE, WORD FOR WORD

Same symptom. Opposite approach.

ALTERNATE HOOK TO TEST

"If your jeans fit at 8am and not at 6pm, there are two possible reasons."

B-roll

- [ ] Optional: hand on stomach over a loose top (no tight close-ups of the body).
- [ ] Optional: jeans on a chair or bed, for the alt hook.

Reel cover text: BLOATED BY EVENING? THERE ARE 2 REASONS

Caption

Flat in the morning. Bloated by evening.

There are two completely different reasons this happens, and they need opposite approaches. Working on the wrong one can make it worse.

Save this. Next week I'll show you where to start.

#guthealth #bloating #guthealthtips #functionalnutrition #womenshealth

Stories

- Share the Reel with a poll: "Bloated by evening?" Every day / Some days / Rarely.
- Next day: a question box "What's the one thing you've tried that didn't stick?" (These answers make great future hooks.)

Steve, after it posts

- [ ] Reply to comments. If anyone asks "which one am I?", answer: "Hold that thought, I've got something coming next week that'll help." Note their handle for Post 5.

NOTES

- Adapted from Video 7 in the earlier scripts. Removed the "doctors say everything looks fine" line (assumes she's seen doctors) and changed "treat the wrong one" to "working on the wrong one".

POST 4 · WEEK 2, MONDAY

Why Your Elimination Diet Didn't Work

INTRODUCE Reel · 55 to 60 seconds

Who it's for	Burned-Out Professional (28-40), Frustrated Dieter (35-55)
Pattern	The Reactive Gut (screen-door analogy)
Job of this post	Myth-busting that gets shared. First soft mention of Gut Foundations.
CTA	Soft. One line at the end: "first link in my bio".

Setup

- Location: kitchen. Optional props on the counter: a loaf of bread and a carton of milk, or a handwritten list of "foods I can't eat".
- Hand gestures: a flat hand for the screen, fingers spread for the holes.
- Energy: direct, a little myth-busting edge. This is the "let me explain why" video.

Script

0:00-0:03 Hook

If you've done an elimination diet and you're still bloated, I want to explain exactly why.

DID THE ELIMINATION DIET. STILL BLOATED?

VISUAL Slight lean toward camera.

0:03-0:15 The pain

You cut out gluten. Then dairy. Maybe a full elimination protocol. And you felt better for a little while. Or you didn't feel better at all. And now you're frustrated, because you did everything right.

YOU DID EVERYTHING RIGHT.

VISUAL Optional: gesture at the bread and milk on the counter.

0:15-0:28 The reframe

Here's what's going on. An elimination diet finds your triggers. It doesn't do anything about why you're reacting in the first place.

IT FINDS TRIGGERS. IT DOESN'T EXPLAIN THEM.

VISUAL To camera.

0:28-0:45 The analogy

Think of your gut lining like a screen door. It's supposed to let the right things through and keep the rest out. When the screen has holes in it, things get through that shouldn't. Gluten, dairy, foods you've eaten your whole life. Cutting those foods gives you relief. But the screen still has holes, so the reactions come back and the list of foods you can't eat keeps getting longer.

YOUR GUT LINING IS A SCREEN DOOR.

VISUAL Flat hand for the screen, spread fingers for the holes.

0:45-0:50 The aha

The foods aren't the problem. The barrier is.

THE FOODS AREN'T THE PROBLEM. THE BARRIER IS.

VISUAL Pause before it. Say it slowly. Hold eye contact after.

0:50-0:58 Soft CTA

That's one of five gut patterns, and I explain all five in a short course I just put together. It's the first link in my bio.

GUT FOUNDATIONS · FIRST LINK IN BIO

VISUAL Relaxed, almost an aside. Point up toward the bio.

>
> The foods aren't the problem. The barrier is.

> ALTERNATE HOOK TO TEST
> "Cutting out gluten didn't fix it, and here's why it was never going to."

B-roll

- [ ] Hand pushing bread and milk to the side of the counter.
- [ ] Optional: a phone notes app or paper list titled "Can't eat" getting longer.

> NOTES
>
> - Adapted from Video 3 in the earlier scripts. Changed "fix the barrier" to "explain why you're reacting" and replaced the quiz CTA.

POST 5 · WEEK 2, WEDNESDAY

Start Here (the Gut Foundations launch)

INTRODUCE Reel · 50 to 55 seconds

Who it's for	All four $27 avatars
Pattern	All five (the course covers them).
Job of this post	Launch Gut Foundations. Close the loop from Post 3. Get START comments and Link in Bio taps.
CTA	Direct: comment START, or first link in my bio.

Setup

- Location: Alina's workspace: desk, laptop, notebook, cup of tea. It should feel like "this is where I do the work".
- Screen recording needed: on a phone, scroll slowly through the Gut Foundations sales page, then open one lesson and scroll it. 15 seconds, no audio. Steve can record this.
- Energy: the warmest video in the series. She's proud of this, but not hyped. Like telling a friend about something she made.

Script

0:00-0:03 Hook (pays off Post 3)

Last week I said I'd show you where to start. This is it.

WHERE TO START WITH YOUR GUT

VISUAL To camera, leaning in slightly.

0:03-0:20 Why it exists

The first hour of every client call, I explain the same things. How your gut actually works. Why it affects your energy, your skin, your mood. And the five patterns I see over and over. And so many women tell me nobody has ever explained it to them before.

WHAT I EXPLAIN ON EVERY FIRST CALL

VISUAL To camera. Glance at the notebook on "the same things".

0:20-0:38 What it is

So I wrote it all down. It's called Gut Foundations. Eleven short lessons, about ten minutes each. They're written, not videos, so you can read them on your lunch break. There are reflection prompts, a private group, and it's yours to keep.

11 LESSONS · ~10 MIN EACH · $27

VISUAL Cut to the screen recording of the sales page and a lesson, with Alina's voice over it. Back to her face on "yours to keep".

0:38-0:46 The honest part

It won't diagnose you, and it won't fix everything in a weekend. What it does is stop the guessing, because you'll finally know what you're working with.

IT WON'T DIAGNOSE YOU. IT WILL STOP THE GUESSING.

VISUAL Straight to camera, steady. This is the trust line.

0:46-0:54 CTA

It's twenty-seven dollars, and it's the first link in my bio. Or comment START and I'll send it to you.

POST 6 · WEEK 2, FRIDAY

What It Is (and What It Isn't)

INTRODUCE Carousel · 7 slides, 1080 x 1350 (4:5)

Who it's for	Health-Conscious Optimizer (30-50), anyone on the fence
Pattern	None. This is the trust post.
Job of this post	Answer "what am I actually buying?" before she has to ask. Honesty sells to a burned buyer.
CTA	Soft-direct: first link in my bio, or comment START.

Setup

- Steve designs. Same carousel style as Post 2 so they look like a set.
- Slide 2 ("It isn't") uses a soft gray or terracotta X for each line. Slide 3 onward uses sage checkmarks.
- Optional: slide 4 shows a phone mockup of a lesson page.

The Cravings Aren't Yours

ASK Reel · 55 to 60 seconds

Pattern	The Sugar-Driven Gut (squatters analogy)
Job of this post	The most shareable aha line of the five. Direct CTA to Gut Foundations.
CTA	Direct: comment START, or first link in my bio.

Setup

- Location: kitchen. Optional prop: a plate of cookies or a chocolate bar on the counter.
- This hook should feel like a reveal: strong eye contact, a pause after "might not be yours".
- Gesture: both hands for "squatters taking over".

Script

0:00-0:04 Hook

If you feel like you have zero willpower around sugar, I need you to hear this. The cravings might not be yours.

THE CRAVINGS MIGHT NOT BE YOURS.

VISUAL Strong eye contact. Short pause after "might not be yours".

0:04-0:15 The pain

You know how you want to eat. You've tried cutting sugar. You start over every Monday. And by Wednesday you're right back where you started, and you feel terrible about yourself.

START OVER MONDAY. BACK BY WEDNESDAY.

VISUAL Optional: glance at the cookies, push the plate away.

0:15-0:30 The reframe

Here's what can be happening. In some gut patterns, certain bacteria feed on sugar and refined carbs. And when there are too many of them, they send signals that make you want more of exactly what they need.

SOME BACTERIA FEED ON SUGAR.

VISUAL To camera.

0:30-0:40 The analogy

It's like squatters moved into your house and figured out how to do the grocery shopping.

SQUATTERS IN THE HOUSE

VISUAL Both hands, a "taking over" gesture. A little humor is fine here.

0:40-0:48 The aha

The cravings aren't yours. They're something else's, broadcasting through you. That's why white-knuckling it doesn't work. You're fighting the wrong thing.

THE CRAVINGS AREN'T YOURS. THEY'RE SOMETHING ELSE'S, BROADCASTING THROUGH YOU.

POST 8 · WEEK 3, WEDNESDAY

The 3pm Crash

ASK Reel · 55 to 60 seconds

Who it's for	Health-Conscious Optimizer (30-50), Burned-Out Professional (28-40)
Pattern	The Wired-and-Tired Gut (car engine timing analogy)
Job of this post	Reach the woman who eats well and still crashes. Point to the high-stress bonus lesson.
CTA	Direct: comment START, or first link in my bio.

Setup

- Location: desk or home office, mid-afternoon light if possible. Optional prop: a coffee cup.
- Consider filming the first 2 seconds slumped at the desk, then sitting up into the hook.
- Gesture: hands showing "misfiring", like pistons out of sync.
- Energy: relaxed and direct, like talking to a friend over coffee.

Script

0:00-0:03 Hook

If you crash every single day around 3pm, and you've been blaming it on sleep or coffee, I want to give you a different explanation.

THE 3PM CRASH ISN'T ABOUT COFFEE.

VISUAL Optional: start slumped at the desk, sit up and look at the camera.

0:03-0:12 The pain

You eat well. You sleep okay. You've tried cutting caffeine. And that crash still hits at the same time every afternoon, like clockwork.

SAME TIME. EVERY AFTERNOON.

VISUAL Tap the coffee cup.

0:12-0:25 The reframe

Here's what I want you to consider. Your gut and your nervous system are deeply connected. In the pattern I call Wired-and-Tired, your body is basically running stressed all day, and it shows up in your digestion and your energy.

YOUR GUT AND YOUR NERVOUS SYSTEM ARE CONNECTED.

VISUAL To camera.

0:25-0:38 The analogy

Think of a car with the engine timing off. Every part technically works, but nothing fires in the right order. So it runs badly all day, and it gives out in the afternoon.

ENGINE TIMING OFF

VISUAL Hands showing "misfiring".

0:38-0:46 The aha

The food is fine. The system processing it isn't. And no amount of coffee fixes a timing problem. It just covers it until the next crash.

THE FOOD IS FINE. THE SYSTEM PROCESSING IT ISN'T.

VISUAL Slow, word for word on the first line.

0:46-0:58 CTA

There's a whole bonus lesson in Gut Foundations on what high stress does to your gut, because I see this so often. It's twenty-seven dollars, first link in my bio. Or comment START.

POST 9 · WEEK 3, FRIDAY

Your Questions About Gut Foundations

ASK Reel · 60 to 75 seconds

Who it's for	Everyone who's been on the fence
Pattern	None.
Job of this post	Handle the real objections out loud, in Alina's voice. Close the launch.
CTA	Direct: comment START, or first link in my bio.

Setup

- Format: Alina to camera, with each question shown on screen as a text card (or as a screenshot of the real DM or question-sticker reply, with the name blurred).
- Swap the questions below for the real ones collected from Posts 5 and 6. Keep it to 4 questions. Keep the answers honest and short.
- Location: same workspace as Post 5, so it looks like a follow-up.
- Energy: relaxed, like answering a friend's texts.

0:00-0:04 Hook

You sent me so many questions about Gut Foundations this week. Let's answer them.

YOUR QUESTIONS, ANSWERED

VISUAL To camera, holding the phone up as if reading messages.

0:04-0:15 Q1: Is it videos?

"Is it videos?" No, it's written. Eleven lessons, about ten minutes each. You can read them on your phone whenever you have a minute, and you keep them forever.

"IS IT VIDEOS?"

VISUAL Question card on screen first, then cut to Alina answering.

0:15-0:30 Q2: Will it tell me my pattern?

"Will it tell me my pattern?" It walks you through all five, how each one works and how it tends to show up, so you can recognize yours. And if you want a quick read first, my free quiz is the second link in my bio.

"WILL IT TELL ME MY PATTERN?"

VISUAL Question card, then Alina.

0:30-0:45 Q3: This or the $147 course?

"Should I get this one or your Gut Reset Course?" Start here. Gut Foundations explains what each pattern is. The Gut Reset Course is what to do about it, week by week. Understanding comes first.

"THIS ONE OR THE $147 COURSE?"

VISUAL Question card, then Alina.

0:45-0:57 Q4: No testing?

"I've never had any gut testing. Is it still for me?" Yes. It's written for exactly that. You don't need a single test result to use it.

"NEVER HAD ANY TESTING?"

VISUAL Question card, then Alina.

0:57-1:07 CTA

So if you've been on the fence, this is your sign. It's twenty-seven dollars, first link in my bio. Or comment START and I'll send it to you.
